The speculation was devoid of animation, and the volume of business extremely light, even for a Saturday. The improvement in the London market for securities, more encouraging reports of trade prospects and the placing of the tariff and income tax clauses of the ways and means committee bill into separate measures had the effect of giving a strong tone to the opening dealings, causing an advance of 1/2011/2 per cent. New York, Chicago & St. Louis first preferred, which fell off 2 per cent. Friday, led the upward movement, Small realizing sales quickly changed the temper of specuation, the active list receding 1/201 per cent., the latter in Burlington & Quincy, and 3 per cent. in Rubber. The weakness continued until about fifteen minutes before noon, when reports of a very strong bank statement, coupled with a desire on the part of the short interest to cover, resulted in a strong buying movement, which sent prices up sharply, the greatest part of the decline being covered, and in some instances figures going above the best prices of the morning. The market closed strong and, compared with the final sales of Friday, 1/6 per cent. higher, the latter in New York, Chicago & St. Louis, 2 in American Tobacco, preferred, 14 in Sugar, preferred, and 1 in the common. Rubber recovered 1 per cent., making the loss on the day 2 per cent. Bur-lington & Quincy, against which a special drive was made, loses only ¼ per cent. from yesterday's closing. Another Disappointing Week in Trade, with Few Changes in Values. It is useiess to try and conceal the fact below expectations, but it may be that too much was looked for. TO FORFEIT ITS CHARTER. Kansas Wants to Gain Possession of the M., K. & T. Railway. TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 13 .- Attorney-general Little has prepared a petition to be filed at Erie, Neosho county, on Monday or Tuesday, in the M., K. & T. railroad quo warranto case, asking that the road's charter be forfeited, and that the entire railroad property be turned over to the State, because of violation of the laws in moving the general offices out of Kansas.

The Association on Top. CHICAGO, Jan. 13.-The question of handling emigrants on which Peter Mc-Donnell, of New York, and the advisory committee of the New York emigrant clearing house, have been conferring for two days, has been settled in favor of the Western Passenger Association. McDonnell and the other heavy New York agents have agreed to deal exclusively with the association lines in routing business, and the lines have agreed to deal only with such emigrant agents as are a party to this agreement. This contract hits the Union Pacific hard as it is not a member of the association and its fight to secure control of the San Francisco business has gone for nothing.

Railway Notes. The Eastern committee of the Western Passenger Association has decided to make a one-fare rate for the round trip to the convention of the National Educational Association to be held at Duluth in July. The thirty-day return limit on tickets will probably be abolished and the time fixed at four days. The total earnings of the Monon for December were $228,550, a decrease of $28,000. as compared with 1892. The passenger earnings show an increase of $17,371 over last The Union Pacific has extended the return limit on tickets to the midwinter fair to

IN SEARCH OF INFORMATION. Facts Found Out by Haskins When He Was Getting Up an Article. New York Recorder.

"Haskins has been doing some more investigating. You know he's always looking up points for some article or other, and just now he is poking into the management of insane asylums," said the real estate man. "Well, the other day he got himself invited to one of those little social affairs given every month or so by the most harmess inmates in an asylum not far from

"They sang and danced and gave recitations, just like people who are called sane in ordinary society. Haskins singled out a quiet little woman who looked perfectly harmless, and began to question her. 'Does the doctor ever put you strait jacket?" he asked. "'Oh, no;' she answered with a good deal of surprise. "'Does he treat you well?"

"'Always." "'Did you ever see him making lovethat is, being extra agreeable-to any of the women patients? " 'No-I don't think I ever did.' "'Does he give you enough to eat?" "'He has so far.'

"'Did you like him?" "'Very much.' " 'Tell me, has he ever made love to you?" "The little woman's eyes dropped in con-"You can tell me,' he urged, 'I shail respect your confidence." "'Well-then-I suppose he has,' she said in still deeper confusion. "Thank you, said Haskins. 'I shall keep my promise. 'Great Scott.' he exclaimed, whipping out his notebook, hastily. That's valuable evidence, anyway. Now, I think I'll go sound the doctor a while. Perhaps her dementia takes that peculiar form of thinking men are making love to her.' "He approached the doctor cautiously, when he thought his particular patient was not looking. "The woman over there in the gray gown,' he said, calling the doctor's attention to her. 'Is she'-"'Why, that's my wife,' laughed the "Haskins turned and fled, leaving his umbrella and overshoes in the hall. "He says he shall never be able to get any more points from that asylum."

WHEAT STILL LOWER

Another 3-4c Knocked Off on Poor Demand and Free Selling.

Beerbohm Estimates 29,500,000 Bushels for Export in Foreign Countries Over Previous Figures.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 .- The poor export demand and free selling sent wheat down again to-day. May closed with a loss of %c. May corn closed 4c lower; May oats %c lower, and provisions finished with pork slightly higher and lard and ribs a little Wheat started weak, with May 1/4c lower at 65%c, and under heavy pressure to sell began a decline which continued with few reactions throughout the session. The weakness was attributed to the smaller clearances, the exports of wheat and flour from both coasts being reported about 800,000 bushels smaller than the preceding week. The clearances of wheat from the Atlantic ports, however, were little larger than the preceding week. The receipts at primary markets were a little smaller than during the preceding week and operators look for a small decrease in the visible supply, estimated at from 309,000 to 506,000 bushels. The report credited to Beerbohm that the exportable surplus of wheat was 29,500,000 bushels in excess of the estimated requirements of importing countries, also had a some-what weakening effect on values. Cables were not encouraging. Export clearings were small yesterday and aggregated 210,-000 bushels of wheat and flour, of which 110,000 bushels was in flour and 89,000 bushels was wheat shipped from New Orleans. New York reported only twelve loads for export, and no shipping business was done here. The speculative offerings were fairly large and exceeded the demand. Domestic markets were quiet and easier, Receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis were 251 cars against 248 cars yesterday and 319 cars for the corresponding day a year ago. Local receipts were 120 cars, and a year ago were 157 cars. Kennett-Hopkins, Schwartz-Dupee, Baldwin-Farnum, and other big traders sold persistently, and May closed but 1/3c from the bottom figures of the day. May opened at 65%c, lost %c, rallied %c, lost %c, and rallied %c to close at 65%c.

Corn was moderately active at times, with the feeling easy, and slightly lower prices occurred. The action of wheat, together with sales by several prominent operators, were the principal factors in creating depression. The lack of outside speculative interest was instrumental in bringing about the easier sentiment. Receipts were rather heavy, estimates for Monday's receipts were liberal, and May closed but %c above the day's bottom figures. May opened %c lower at 38%c, advanced %c, lost sc and reacted 1sc, to close at 38c. Pressure to sell caused a weaker feeling in the oats market. May opened 1/8c lower at 301/ac, and after advancing 1/3c on a little buying, declined %c, and closed at the day's bottom figures, 29%c. The provision market opened active and lower on receipts of live hogs, being 8.000 over the estimate, and lower prices for them. On somewhat limited offerings, the feeling was very steady at the decline, except that ribs were weak and comparatively lower than anything else. On some support to pork by a prominent packing institution, the decline was recovered. Pork continued to be more active than anything else, and after scoring an advance over yesterday's final figures, reacted to the opening figures of the day, on support being withdrawn, and the offerings a little more free, with lard and ribs ruling steady. Subsequently a little bidding sent prices up again, the market ruling firm, finally reacting to a limited extent and closing steady Compared with last night, May pork is

A MARRIAGE A LA MODE. How the Work Is Done Quickly Down in Florida.

The deputy clerk in the marriage bureau at Jacksonville was very, very busy. Without looking up from his work be knew there was a colored couple looking around timidly near the door and occasionally peering over at the desk where he sat writ-This lasted for about half an hour when, becoming annived, he suddenly leaped up and demanded: "Well, well, want to get married; why don't you say so?" They grinned at each other, then grinned at the clerk. Then the man faltered: "Ya-as, sir. "Got a license?" "Ya-as, sir."

"Got any money?" "Ya-as, sir." "How much?" "Two dollars. "Hand it here."

He slowly, almost painfully, counted out $2 in chicken money. The clerk grabbed it. "Join right hands," he said. Then faster than a thunder shower can patter on a tin roof he rattled off the folowing: "By vitchof thoritof State of Floridin me vestedinow declare you man-wife. Gltowder here," and they went, still grinning. Next day while the bridegroom was laying track for the new electric car line he was heard to say: "Mr. Charlie Verelst is de smartest white man in Jacksonville-marry you in a minit. Golly! I specks to git him to marry me every time."

Joan of Arc.

Detroit Free Press. "What a wonderful girl," exclaimed the enthusiastic professor of history, "was Joan of Arc. Think of her leaving her peasant home and going out, as one inspired, to lead the armies of France. Was she ordinary flesh and blood? Was she human? ## THE WIZARD IN LUCK

Won the Last Game from Ives by a Score of 600 to 599.

Chicago Three-Cornered Balk-Line Billiard Match Results in a Tie, to Be Played Off Monday Night.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.-Schaefer and Ives wound up the balk-line billiard tournament to-night before a crowded house. It was their second meeting since the adoption of the rule barring the anchor nurse, and it devolved upon Schaefer to play good billiards in order to have any chance at the sweeptakes of $1,500 and 50 per cent. net receipts. He must win to-night in order to tie Ives, as the latter had won all his games thus far, while Schaefer lost to Ives last Wednesday night. In the event of a tie it was understood the game would be played off next Monday evening. In the bank for lead Ives won, and made the layoff. The balls lined on his second shot, but a well conceived kiss saved him good position. He stopped at five on a hard masse and left Schaefer an easy draw, which he missed as he also did on the second inning. Billiards were slow. At the first call the score stood: Ives, 110; Schaefer, 47.

In his seventh inning the "Wizard" made 89, putting the score 136 to 117 in his favor. Ives came to time with 61. At the end of the tenth inning the score stood: Ives, 206; Schaefer, 166. Schaefer responded with a run of 86 and passed Ives, 252 to 206. Undismayed, Ives took hold of his cue in the twelfth inning and ran 203, while the hall rang with applause. His exhibition involved every known style of billiards and the friends of the champion began to fear for their favoritè. Score: Ives, 40.1; Schaef-

Schaefer did not show the least sign of discomposure. On the contrary, his open-ing shots in the latter half of the twelfth inning were difficult and brilliant, and he clicked off a pretty run of 32 before he failed on a kiss shot. Ives was still at concert pitch and opened out his thirteenth inning with a strong array of high-class billiards, nursing skillfully near the lower rail, but generally on wide lines. The balls at 75 were within a radius of eight inches, in fact, too close, when Ives, to avoid a push, failed in force and missed. Score: Ives, 484; Schaefer, 284.

The bunch was intact as Schaefer found it, but headed the wrong way, and he at once worked the balls to the head of the table, where they were soon in fine shape. At twenty-six he stopped by missing a twocushion shot. His fourteenth gave him but one, and when Ives blanked in his fifteenth, Schaefer had the benefit of a scratch on his second shot. He profited by this luck, and once more did some good playing on the lower rail in and out of the anchor space at the right. He left this after a little and took the balls over to the left hand lower rail, where he worked the corner in great shape. He was making a big lot of billiards off of a big scratch, but he was making them beautifully, and his admirers in the big crowd yelled with delight as he kept on with his pretty work. He failed at 134 on a slow, careful, long-cushion shot. Score: Ives, 491; Schaefer, 445. Ives let go rather easily at three in his sixteenth inning, and Schaefer did as badly in his half. For his seventeenth Ives, in three shots, had the balls bunched on the lower rail, where nearly all the billiards of the night had been made, and now he did some good nursing on the fourteen-inch line. At fifty he left the line and worked the lower end. He looked as though he would run out the game, but at eighty-one Ives, 575; Schaefer, 447.

stumbled on a two-cushion shot. Score: There was safety play on both sides for the eighteenth inning, but Ives cut loose in the nineteenth with an almost hopeless twice-across shot, which he missed and left a fine set-up, but Jake again stopped at the unlucky number, this time leaving the balls together. Ives got them lined forthwith, but counted by a wonderfully thin one. Again at seven they lined in the middle of the table, and this time they were safe indeed. By far the pluckiest and best shot of the game was made on the fourteenth count by Schaefer in the nineteenth inning. He sent his own ball around four cushlons with heavy reverse twist and, in counting, obtained excellent position. The game was now at an intensely exciting stage, as Schaefer passed to his last string. The crowd watched every shot with breathless interest, and at every good stroke burst into applause. He was playing like a man whose life was at stake, and making everything dead right. At one hundred the balls were badly spread, but he went after them in every conceivable shape and made them, too, while the crowd yelled itself hoarse. At 112 he was kissed out of a count on a round-the-table shot, but he had passed Ives, having 585 to 584. Now, indeed, the strain was something terrific on players and spectators. With but sixteen to go Ives "went to bat" amid perfect silence, and when, at two points, he missed easily, there were groans and cheers in equal proportion. He left the balls hard for Schaefer, whose miss seemed to settle the game, for Ives took hold with grim determination. He needed only fourteen. When the marker had called 13, the balls were on the rail, nearly but not quite in line. The shot was not a hard one for any player. Ives took the bridge and played a cushion shot to the end rail. He missed by a hair. Now the two object balls were left frozen to the side rail over two feet apart and Schaefer's ball out in the middle of the table. It was a tremendously hard shot, almost impossible, but he drew from white to red and counted. Two thousand people were stand-ing on their feet and shouting. The next shot was also a long and very difficult draw, but there was position in it and Jake went out after it. He made it exactly right, and while the spectators held their breath he went on like a man of iron and won the most remarkable game of billiards on record His run was fifteen and he had beaten Ives just one point in 600. Then the crowd went all to pieces, and Schaefer's feet did not touch the floor for the next five minutes. The last shot was made at twenty minutes past 11 o'clock.

75, 7, 0, 8, 81, 2, 0, 7, 2, 13. Total, 599. Average-Schaefer, 27 6-22: Ives, 27 5-22. High runs-Schaefer, 134 and 112; Ives, 203.

The Passing of the Tidy. Decorator and Furnisher.

In decorative fads we have happily out-lived the use of the bamboo portleres, the Japanese fan and the everlasting tidy. Bamboo portieres were only in oddity of the moment, not sufficiently beautiful to justify their permanent use; they were flimsy in construction and were neither a curtain nor a decoration. The Japanese fan was altogether too flimsy an article to afford lasting pleasure, and the tidy, born of the age of black hair cloth upholstery, has happily disappeared with that sleazy material. There is no objection to the use of a beautifully embroidered dolley for the dinner table, with an embroidered square for the epergne or table lamp, but the use of the tidy as a device to save the wear of uphoistery savors too much of the furniture wrapper, which has long been used to deform whatever beauty the furniture possessed in the way of upholstery. Many women, through their love of dress, have the instinct to hide everything under a cloth and cover the mantel with lambrequins and the carpet with crash, and the piano with a decorative jacket, as if it were made of pine boards and unfit to be exhibited. Let us hope that the day of spreads, mats, lambrequins, scarfs and tidies that make rooms look stuffy and uninviting, is gone forever. Both pictures and furniture should fall back flat against the wall as much as possible, leaving the greatest possible amount of space in the center of the room, so that the individuals who dwell in the apartment will be the real decoration, the furniture and minor furnishings forming a necessary, agreeable and artistic background. Every apartment should convey the feeling of use, rather than the idea that it is a room for the exhibition of furniture.

A Check on the Ice Man.

It was left to a Kansas City man to foil the ice man, and another prolific subject of the funny men who write for comic papers seems doomed. W. B. Dickson, who, by profession, is at the head of the Dickson School of Shorthand, and incidentally is an author and an inventor, was recently granted a patent for an ice meter. By its use the consumer will be no longer at the mercy of the ice man and the ice man will no longer be compelled to listen to the complaints of his customers. The device weighs the ice as it is day by day put into the ice box and registers the weight of each day's purchase on a monthly reg-ister, so that at the end of the month a look at the register will show the exact number of pounds used during that period. It indicates the exact number of pounds of ice remaining in the refrigerator at any time of the day, enabling the owner to know whether or not it is necessary to order ice. There are also other advantages I attuct to use use of the meter, air. hooks without so much stepping up and about his invention and has been offered a
